Approach

We are a simple firm to understand; we build portfolios of deeply undervalued businesses without a focus on benchmarks. We think of our positions as ownership interests in the underlying companies. We therefore invest with a long-term horizon.

Success in value investing requires two primary elements:

1. Superior, in-depth research into the businesses we own. These companies are undergoing real issues, which is why their prices relative to normalized earnings estimates appear low in the first place. Knowing what we are exposing ourselves and our clients to is a critical element of success. But it is not enough...
2. A disciplined, repeatable investment process. This is so necessary, yet so difficult to implement. Why? Because emotions play a large role in investing. The daily market-to-market that the stock market reports, however, is not useful to us. Our process is designed to ensure that human emotions do not override good research.

We act like private equity investors in the public markets. We make investments as if there is no ready public market to enable us to sell. Thus, we must become satisfied that the earnings and cash flow generating ability of the businesses appear to attractively compensate us for the equity risk taken.

Price / Earnings (1-Year Forecast) is a measure of the price-to-earnings ratio (P/E) using forecasted earnings for the P/E calculation. Price / Book is a valuation ratio of a company's current share price compared to its book value. Median Market Cap is the point at which half of the market value of a portfolio is invested in stocks with a greater market cap, and consequently the other half is invested in stocks with a lower market cap. Weighted Average Market Cap is the average firm market capitalization weighted by security weight. Normalized P/E is a ratio that measures a company's share price relative to Pzena's estimate of future free cash flow.

The MSCI Emerging Markets Index is a float-adjusted market capitalization index that consists of indices in 23 emerging economies: Brazil, Chile, China, Colombia, Czech Republic, Egypt, Greece, Hungary, India, Indonesia, Korea, Malaysia, Mexico, Peru, Philippines, Poland, Qatar, Russia, South Africa, Taiwan, Thailand, Turkey, and UAE. You cannot invest directly in an index.

Mutual fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. Investments in small- and mid-cap companies involve additional risks such as limited liquidity and greater volatility than larger companies. Investments in foreign securities involve political, economic and currency risks, greater volatility and differences in accounting methods. These risks are greater for investments in Emerging Markets. The fund may have emphasis on a specific sector which could adversely affect a fund to a greater extent than if its emphasis was less. The fund may invest in securities which are less liquid and more difficult to sell than more liquid securities. The fund may invest in p-notes which are a type of equity linked derivative and involve counterparty risk and risk that the performance of the security may not exactly match the performance of the issuer. Investments in REITs are subject to the risks associated with the direct ownership of real estate.
